Rarely do you have the opportunity to step into a home that's presented as if it's off the cover of a magazine but, in the quiet rural township of Terang, a stunning transformation of an 1800's weatherboard home is exactly that! Filled with pieces of history, the home is a preserved treasure trove of a golden age where homes were built with a sense of grandeur, one glance inside this home and your heart will be soaring with admiration of the stunning mix of retained character elements with modern comforts that is mind-blowingly beautiful! Built-in the 1890's, the primary residence consists of a five-bedroom, two-bathroom, two-living room home, with two additional dwellings on the property which include; a free-standing studio cottage with a bedroom, one living room, kitchenette, a partially completed bathroom and potentially another bedroom making for an idyllic guest room or, even better, Airbnb, and if working from home is a major draw card, a completely independent two-room studio with its own decked entranceway and views over the heritage garden is every tree changer's dream. The home is truly inspirational, with every room on a grand proportional scale; soaring ceilings, timber lining boards, pressed tin, old fireplaces and mantles; it feels authentic, whimsical and offers a provincial style of living. The garden is bathed in spring colour; ornamental flowering trees, cottage plants, fruit trees, grapevines and edged pathways resembling an old English garden with equal romance. Incredibly private and peaceful, yet wonderfully close to Terang's CBD, schools, golf course and train station, the home is also a 30 minute drive from Warrnambool on the main highway. The stunning restoration has taken place over the last several years and there is much, much more to tell you about this property, but you will need to step inside the home to fully appreciate how beautiful it is.
