Steeped in tradition and rejuvenated by an alfresco rear, with an upstairs extension, this utterly charming 3 bedroom, circa 1870s Victorian residence is a lovingly maintained slice of Williamstown's history. Just a short stroll from the waterfront and all the area's key attractions, this is an attractive home in one of Williamstown's most coveted, Elm Tree-lined locations. Superbly maintained original character includes Baltic Pine flooring, a pair of fireplaces - one evocatively set in the home's original bluestone - and an exquisite leadlight window upon entry. Effortlessly, the home flows to an open-plan rear, where the rich character of exposed timber beams is complemented by French Doors that open to the alfresco joy of a tranquil deck. With low maintenance garden surrounds and a retractable awning, the promise here is of private, year-round enjoyment. Upstairs, 2 bedrooms are well-removed from the living areas - the master with walk-in robes and semi-ensuite access to one of the home's two tastefully heritage-style bathrooms. Additional highlights include walk-in or built-in robes in all bedrooms, volumes of under-stair storage, split system heating and air conditioning, as well as additional attic storage. This traditional Williamstown location allows you walk easily to all the cafes, restaurants and shopping of the Nelson Place precinct, as well as the Botanical Gardens and Williamstown Beach, Williamstown Primary School, the Secondary College and city-bound trains from Williamstown Beach Railway Station.
