Rarer than hen's teeth with its immense 838 sq. metre (approx.) corner allotment, centrally convenient location, and plans for two additional residences to the rear, this inspiring development canvas tantalises the imagination with its unbridled possibilities and promising future (STCA).The current home ideally sits close to the property's northern border, delivering a vibrant and well-kept 3-bedroom, 1.5-bathroom design, with options to renovate or reimagine to maximise its lifestyle appeal. Plans are in place for two additional residences to be built at the rear, relishing easy access from the adjacent Woodlea Court (able to be viewed upon request).With Frankston and its surrounding areas tipped to be this year's greatest performing suburb, this is one opportunity to take full advantage of and strike while the iron's still hot. Located between John Paul College, The National Golf Club and Frankston Freeway, it's perfectly positioned for capital growth, moments from other revered schools, the Frankston/Seaford foreshore, buses and Frankston's CBD.
