Captain Creek Hideaway Nestled in the foothills of the spectacular Eurimbula National Park, this 40.47-acre property offers both privacy and convenience, with all that Agnes Water has to offer, only 22km away. Set in a clearing of approximately 1 acre on the highest point of the land, the comfortable house is beautifully situated for watching the stunning sunsets over the Westwood Range. Captain Creek itself, runs through the property which is set up for maximum enjoyment of the great outdoors. At the end of the 160m driveway stands a large, secure shed/workshop with roller door access and a large double-height centre bay. Beside this, stands an open 3-bay machinery shed which will house a combination of car, boat, trailer, tractor, caravan, or ute, undercover, and just a stone's throw from the house. Behind the house, is your entertainment mecca, complete with a roofed meals area where you can enjoy all the delicious food you whip up on the bbq, or in the inbuilt pizza oven. The area also has ample lighting for late night entertaining. An in-ground pool completes the outdoor space. The house provides everything you need to live comfortably in this piece of paradise, with solar panels on the roof making the sunshine work for you, 4 bedrooms, two bathrooms, floor tile throughout, air conditioning, ceiling fans and classic louvre windows, perfect for catching the breeze. There is a modern, convenient kitchen complete with island bench and built-in pantry and for the cooler evenings, a pot belly stove in the living area, makes for a cosy space. A built-in veranda provides another option for a cool living space as do the spacious open verandas on the other three sides of the house. 45,000L of water storage. If you seek peace and privacy not too far from civilisation, then this property is for you. Call exclusive marketing agent Matt Eales on 0439575683
