The owners have lived here for many years and are now downsizing, having found another property they are keen to sell this large family home. The property has space for the entire family and has many living areas, including a covered and enclosed outdoor entertaining area where they have hosted many family events. When the owners needed more space for the growing family, they made use of the elevation and built upstairs another living area, bathroom and three spacious bedrooms. Downstairs, there are another two bedrooms, bathroom, office, kitchen and dining room which also drops down to the spacious main living room. With two gas heaters and ducted evaporative air cooling, you will be kept comfortable year round. The owners have loved living here and are sure that the next family will also.
