

7 Anne Street, George Town, Tas 7253

Sold House

Saturday, 13 April 2024

7 Anne Street, George Town, Tas 7253

Bedrooms: 3

Bathrooms: 1

Parkings: 2

Area: 1031 m2

Type: House

Daron Gumley

Contact agent

Immerse yourself in a captivating chapter of history with Thelmara Cottage, residing at 7 Anne Street, George Town. Believed to have been built around the 1860s, this charming home is brimming with character and potential. Enviably positioned on the banks of York Cove, this property was initially granted to Major Stewart due to its advantageous location. In the 1870s, it was home to the esteemed Capt. Sturdee. Fast forward to today, Thelmara stands as a beacon of history, gazing out across the sparkling waters of the Cove. Don't let the term 'cottage' deceive you. This abode boasts ample space with the potential for 3 to 4 bedrooms or dual living areas that frame the captivating water views. You'll also find a sizeable kitchen, a comfortable bathroom, a rear sunroom, and an upper loft that could serve as an office or study. Living here, you'll find every convenience at your doorstep. You're a mere 2-3 minute stroll from local cafés, a supermarket, a chemist, and more. This delightful home presents a lucrative opportunity for those keen on private residence or as short-term accommodation, amplified by the booming tourism sector in George Town. Are you ready to continue the legacy of this beautiful property and become the next custodian of Thelmara Cottage? Seize this unique opportunity to own a piece of history today.