In the sought after Glen Iris prestigious school district and a short walk from Central Park, this custom built home is modern family living flawlessly executed. Meticulous selections begin with beautiful herringbone oak floors in the entrance hall, leading to the immaculate kitchen showcasing a butler's pantry, built in fridge and freezer and white-on-white aesthetic. With the benefit of a north facing rear aspect, natural light pours into the open plan living and dining area, which embraces the easy care garden and allows entertaining to move freely between the indoors and outside via a series of sliding doors. A second living area and study deliver ideal family functionality, and the intelligently arranged accommodation comprises a main bedroom suite on the ground level, while upstairs, two of the remaining three bedrooms share a central ensuite, and a separate bathroom and powder room support the other. Practicalities extend to a guest powder room, laundry, ducted heating and cooling, and ample off-street parking, including a double carport behind an automated gate. Walk to the tram, cafes and esteemed schools, and enjoy easy access to the train and Monash Freeway.
