3 BED PERIOD HOUSE (c. 1915) IN GOLD MINING TOWN

This property is located in what was the main street of Redbank - a tiny town removed from outside interruptions. Land size 2772m² (includes cleared block). For a short period of time it was a thriving town occupied by miners - now it offers a wonderful quietness with outward views to the Pyrenees Ranges and is central to a number of excellent wineries.

The house has undergone change including the addition of a family room with wood fire heater, refurbished bathroom. There are still some original features including timber lined ceilings and hallway accents. At the rear is a substantial machinery shed.

Undoubtedly requiring repairs and refurbishment the completion of which would deliver a delightful country get-away or tree change.
