What a rarity to find a property such as this, perched up on the hill overlooking the Batman Bridge and picturesque scenery. This property has arguably the best 180-degree views of the Tamar River. It truly is enough to take your breath away once you come up the hill and arrive at the home. Photos truly will never do this property justice. The house itself has been very well looked after and boasts a very spacious open-plan kitchen and living area, all of which overlook the stunning view. The home can be used as a five-bedroom, or a four-bedroom with a media room depending on how you use it. The land comprising of approximately 15 hectares allows heaps of options for use, whether you wanted to build a large shed, start a hobby farm, or even to grow some fruit trees just like the current owners who have several established fruit trees, such as peach, cherry, fig, mandarin and many others throughout the property. Now is your time to make your rural dreams come true and in no time be sitting out the front with a glass of wine enjoying the best sunset views imaginable.
