

8 Anne Street, Port Macquarie, NSW 2444

House For Sale

Wednesday, 12 June 2024

8 Anne Street, Port Macquarie, NSW 2444

Bedrooms: 3

Bathrooms: 2

Parkings: 1

Area: 834 m2

Type: House

Michelle Percival

0404466500

Expression of Interest

Walking distance from the heart of the CBD and its waterfront, this captivating home has been reimagined with a character-laden renovation catering to contemporary comforts. Set just a three minute drive from Port Macquarie's central retail, cultural, and dining precincts, this stylish transformation has retained features with timeless appeal and incorporated new bathrooms, a new kitchen, a fluid layout, light-drenched interiors, and a superb outdoor entertaining area. While its 834.7sqm block makes it a prime site for development (subject to council approval), its appeal to homemakers is undeniable. A harmonious blend of old and new, original polished timber floorboards and ornate cornices meld seamlessly with contemporary conveniences tailored for modern living. An easy-living footprint incorporates an open-plan living and dining area with a sleek stone kitchen, creating a versatile space for both relaxation and entertainment. Sliding glass doors open onto the expansive covered entertaining area at the rear. Overlooking lush lawns, this is a serene oasis perfect for children and pets to roam and play to their heart's content. With three generously sized bedrooms, including one with external access to the front patio, this home offers both comfort and convenience. Side access provides options for off-street parking of a boat, caravan, or trailer, and creates so many possibilities. Beyond its enchanting interiors, the location of this home is truly unbeatable. Situated on the fringe of Port Macquarie's central precinct, residents can enjoy easy access to a multitude of amenities, including pristine beaches and the bustling CBD waterfront, all just minutes away. Experience the perfect marriage of original charm and contemporary design in this stylish Port Macquarie home, offering an unparalleled lifestyle in an unbeatable location.