Redbank is 211 km NW of Melbourne about an hour past Ballarat. It's in the heart of the Pyrenees wine region and has a great little pub. If you're looking for a secluded, quiet hideaway in the country, somewhere to retire, an Airbnb, a weekender, you name it, at this price it might just be an impulse buy. What we have here, is a cute, two bedroom cottage on about four acres, it's quite liveable, but could use a little love. It's on tank water and mains power with a septic system, there's also solar panels on the roof to keep the bills down. The floorplan consists of a living room, two bedrooms, separate kitchen, bathroom/laundry, storeroom and outdoor living area and a return verandah. The land is flat and the garden has some lovely old trees. It's fully fenced and has some sheds for your animals, there's also a couple of garages. We're waiting on the section 32, but just ask and you'll get it as soon as we do. Please call Ian Riley 0438065666 anytime.
