Renovated Californian bungalow pairs 1920s character with everything you need for a relaxed way of living. Named after the Italian town that was home to many of the region's first immigrant families, Tirano is the perfect permanent home or holiday rental opportunity in a prized Daylesford location. The two-bedroom design features a north-facing lounge/potential third bedroom where you can light the fireplace in winter or head out to the brick-fronted veranda on sunny days, and a generous open-plan kitchen, dining and living area with ample space for when friends visit. Head outside and imagine harvesting the lemons, plums, Kangaroo apples and vegetables that grow here. Original architectural features include a double-door entrance, beautiful timber floors, picture rails, art deco light fittings and sash windows. They are part of the charm that comes from carefully pairing the old with the new. The work that's gone into making this ideal for today is outstanding. There's ducted heating, timber benchtops and a five-burner range in the kitchen, an updated bathroom, storeroom, new interior and exterior paintwork, and idyllic street appeal. Sitting on 466 square metres of land (approx.), Tirano also has a deck, storage sheds, planter beds with a fenced border, and established trees. Now it can be yours to enjoy Wombat Hill views, a location that lets you walk to cafes and shops in minutes, and a lifestyle in Victoria's spa capital.  We have obtained all information in this document from sources we believe to be reliable, however, we cannot guarantee its accuracy.
