In an unexpected turn of events, the owners of a remarkable property in Burra have made the tough decision to put it back on the market. However, what may be a reluctant sale for them presents a golden opportunity for discerning buyers seeking a unique slice of history and tranquility. This exceptional residence, born from the fusion of a c1871 Primitive Methodist Chapel and a C1923 Soldiers Memorial Sunday School Hall, stands as a testament to architectural ingenuity and historic preservation. Fully restored, it now offers a blend of character and modern comfort that will appeal to a diverse range of individuals. Whether you're an artist seeking inspiration, a soul in search of quietude, a weekend getaway enthusiast, or an aspiring bed-and-breakfast entrepreneur, this property promises to fulfill your desires. Its prime location, just two hours from Adelaide CBD and a short drive from the renowned Clare wine region, ensures both convenience and seclusion. Set on 2800 sqm of picturesque land, the property boasts original features such as leadlight windows, high ceilings, and timber floorboards, infusing every corner with charm and authenticity. From the inviting farmhouse kitchen to the serene outdoor entertaining area, every detail invites you to embrace a lifestyle of peace and contentment amidst the beauty of rural South Australia. Wander down the stairs & you'll be overwhelmed by the silence & stillness of the abandoned iron mine – private, safe, quiet, secluded! Let the property inspire you with its dramatic sunsets, bright stars in the big night sky and the clean air. A majestic property offering a true country experience.
