Just 3 minutes from Esk and set well-hidden from the road, this ultra-private, large-scale getaway offers the ultimate in seclusion and space, with its immaculate, sprawling double brick residence, two enormous sheds and exceptional water supply from 4 dams and creeks. Spread across a rambling 550* acres (222.47 hectares), the property will reasonably hold up to 50 head of cattle and has roaming deer and plenty of native wildlife. Ideal for those with horses, there is good fencing, shade and vast, open areas to ride to your heart's content. An incredible opportunity awaits you to leave the rat race behind and start living on your own terms. The homestead is naturally cool due to its brick-lined interiors, but also has ducted and split-system air-conditioning installed for the peak of summer and three log-burning fireplaces to ensure the winters are cosy. High ceilings, easy care, practical floors, wide outdoor spaces and an enormous, dog-fenced house yard make this the perfect, large-family country home and rural landholding. Only recently renovated, the kitchen is a cook's delight with its sleek white cabinetry and stone benchtops, a wide, Smeg 6-burner gas-top cooker and a dedicated place for small appliances and the coffee machine. Connected to the outdoor entertaining area and open-air deck, sit back and enjoy times spent with friends and family while overlooking the livestock grazing and the sun setting over mountains in the distance. With a spacious living and dining area, a separate media room and well-planned, distinct bedroom wings for parents and children, the practical layout works superbly. Each area has its own bathroom, and the extra-large master suite has an ensuite with a corner spa bath and twin-basin vanity, and his-and-her semi-walk-in wardrobes providing plenty of storage. The long, all-weather driveway from the roadway passes the first of the fully enclosed steel sheds, a huge machinery, truck, caravan and workshop space with 24 solar panels on the roof. Nearer the home, a second, barn-style shed has high central parking for a horse float or tractor and two additional parking bays - all with roller doors. Great for tack and general storage, the kid's or guests' cars, you'll be impressed by just how many features this spectacular property has. A double garage with a high clearance opening is situated under the house's main roof and has bathroom facilities built in. Close to Esk's IGA, cafes, service amenities, hospital and primary school, this address is also ideal for recreation-seekers, with Somerset Dam, a favourite for water sports and freshwater fishing fans, less than a 20-minute drive away.
