Modern House

By Robin Dyke, Nicholas Gurney

For those in the know, Cedar Cabin is the coolest cabin in Thredbo. The combination of a minimalist interior aesthetic and an uninterrupted view of Mount Kosciuszko has won a loyal following of design & outdoor devotees. Simply, the best view in Thredbo, combined with strong contemporary design is an alluring combination for a discerning eye. The loft bedroom, open plan cabin has been carefully reworked to respect the original 90s design of 'Riverside' by DJRD, which itself references the 60s design of the iconic 'Sea Ranch' in California, including its pitched shed roofs designed for the high winds, window seats and ladders. The lineage of the design cues was carefully curated by designer, Nicholas Gurney, and client who had a vision to create a year-round sanctuary. The result is a sophisticated space that is both calming and energising, to explore and reconnect with nature – a base for adventure. - Year round occupancy- River frontage- Private location in development- Uninterrupted views of Supertrail (Australia's longest ski run)- Easy unload from street- Minutes to Valley Terminal & chairlifts- Rare air-con, cozy & comfortable- Highly regarded re-design- The perfect mix of rugged & luxurious.
