If we've had a chat recently about real estate you would have heard me banging on about Midway Point and why I think it's such a great investment. Whether it's for your first home, your next home or an attractive addition to your investment portfolio, there are plenty of reasons to love Midway. Not only does it offer stunning views of water and mountain but it's less than a 20 minute commute to the city, and only 5 minutes to both Sorell and Cambridge. So, wherever you work, Midway Point is a great option. This 3 bedroom home has undergone a recent upgrade and you will be instantly attracted to its improvements. The recent re-paint is fresh and light, the perfect accompaniment to the warm tones of the timber throughout. The kitchen boasts loads of storage, including a handy walk in pantry, perfect for storing all your goodies, and there is a sunny front deck just off the dining which is the ideal spot for growing kitchen herbs. The kitchen living and spaces are warmed by both an efficient floor mounted heat pump and a wood heater. Imagine waking up in your king size bedroom and having a quick check out the window towards the mountain to see if snow has fallen overnight! There is loads of room for storage and a handy walk in robe. The other two bedrooms are both great size and offer built in robes. There is a family bathroom, again with timber accents and a separate toilet and laundry that offers loads of shelving. There is a utility space out the back which offers plenty of options. Perhaps you need a craft room, a workshop or somewhere for the kids to retreat to, the possibilities are endless. Out the back there are established vegie beds and a handy garden shed. If you are looking for a light and bright home with both water and mountain views, look no further than 10 Darwin Street Midway Point and call me, Donna Wooley of Homelands Property today.
