Step into the countryside dream as you gaze upon the picturesque front façade of KAMA, a historic Queenslander in Cooroy that stands as a testament to luxury meeting tradition. Originally named after the Indian god of love and kindness, this home has been meticulously transformed to embody just that. Embracing its classical Queenslander roots, KAMA showcases timeless features like the 1912 stained glass front door, seamlessly blending with modern elements to create a home that exudes elegance and comfort. The interiors boast French doors and new casement-style windows that flood the living spaces with natural light, offering views of the lush landscaped gardens sprawled across the generous 1,032 sqm block. Adorned with oak timber flooring and lofty 12-foot ceilings, the open plan layout sets the stage for a relaxed lifestyle for you and your loved ones. Indulge in culinary delights in the bespoke designer kitchen equipped with premium European appliances and a charming butler's pantry, all while enjoying vistas of Cooroora Mountain through the large picture window. Unwind by the poolside in the covered alfresco area, savoring the gentle breezes during summer BBQs or gathering around the outdoor firepit for cozy evenings in your very own country oasis. Retreat to one of the four spacious bedrooms, including a guest room with an ensuite, perfect for hosting friends and family. The master suite boasts a stunning ensuite for ultimate pampering. Alternatively, find solace in the sunroom with a good book and a glass of wine at hand. Convenient underground garaging, accessible via Ambulance Lane, not only provides ample storage but also maintains the pristine exterior of your abode, offering seamless access to your haven. When you're ready to explore beyond your sanctuary, a visit to Cooroy township unveils a vibrant Hinterland hub with dining delights, parks for family fun, and cultural experiences at the Butter Factory Arts Centre. KAMA is more than a home; it's an embodiment of countryside luxury. Immerse yourself in this new way of life, nestled in the heart of the Hinterland with the majestic Cooroora Mountain as your backdrop.
