The Mowbray Decision, Made Easy

The character of its current day spaces and the possibilities suggested by its substantial garden allotment combine to define this three bedroom home as a property of significant past, present and future appeal. No matter what direction or decision is selected for tomorrow, the attraction of today is hugely enhanced by a cul-de-sac adjacent to the Launceston Grammar campus, just a couple of minutes from Mowbray's comprehensive shopping hub.

A street presence of classic charm introduces an interior format where previous updating means the spaces, framed by high ceilings and original hardwood floorboards, remain functional while ideas for their next phase are contemplated. The living area's heating and cooling, the dining space's period style and the separate kitchen's serviceable features tell the traditional inside story while the garden's reach defines the outdoor tempting dimensions.

A garage, storage shed, productive lemon tree and brick-built barbeque accompany the alluring land size of a property that represents a rewarding Mowbray strategy.
