This quintessential Queenslander epitomizes classic charm while exuding timeless allure with its original features, including polished timber floors, soaring ceilings, timber French Doors, and a collection of glass louvers and casement windows that invite natural light to dance through the rooms. Offering charming street appeal with its white picket front fence, this lovely home is situated on an impressive 1,795sqm corner allotment nestled on the fringe of the very sought after suburb of Richmond Hill and just a short stroll to The Kennedy Regiment Memorial Pool and Lissner Park. Remaining true to its original character design, the home offers a central lounge room and spacious dining area. Three sizeable bedrooms; the main features split system air-conditioning and French Doors that lead out to the expansive front verandah. Two extra serviceable rooms could be utilised as a home office and a practical walk-in linen/storage room. The massive kitchen will effortlessly accommodate a growing family or those that like to entertain family and friends with ease. A rustic character filled bathroom highlights a fusion of corrugated iron and timber that surrounds a featured clawfoot bath. Your mornings and afternoons will no doubt be spent sprawled out on the expansive classic front verandah. Nestled nicely on the block, the home is surrounded by an established yet low maintenance yard and easy access through to a four bay powered shed, lawn locker and chook run. If a quintessential Queenslander lifestyle is what your looking for then look no further, this home is a must to inspect.
