Historic Allure - A Rare Opportunity

Previously known as "Black Dog Creek Inn" until the 1920s, this unique property offers a step back in time, having served as the Black Dog Creek Police Station barracks from 1854 to 1857.

Situated on a generous half acre of land (approx.) this residence retains its original charm, highlighted by a grand living area featuring the original bar, now complemented by a gaslog fireplace.

The property features three bedrooms, two of which offer direct access to classic-style bathrooms, whilst the third can serve as a library or additional lounge.

The kitchen, with its attractive timber ceilings and modern gas cooktop, adjoins an appealing dining area with dado boards and an open fireplace, creating a warm and inviting atmosphere.

An original stone cellar can be accessed from the front verandah offers additional storage space and adds to the home's historical allure.

Located in the quaint township of Chiltern, just a twenty-minute drive from Albury-Wodonga and close to other historic towns like Beechworth and Rutherglen, this property offers a unique chance to own a piece of history.

Don't miss your opportunity to inspect this remarkable property.
