Beyond the picturesque facade of this Victorian Gothic Revival cottage lies a sophisticated contemporary home designed to embrace a private garden courtyard. One of Woollahra's iconic gingerbread cottages built in the 1890s, the home has been sympathetically restored and recreated blending romantic charm with designer luxury and features a versatile attic retreat. Tucked away in a historic cul-de-sac enclave opposite Centennial Park, this peaceful and private haven is a brief stroll to Woollahra village with a nearby pedestrian bridge affording easy access to Westfield's retail hub and the station. Featuring: - Classic marble-finished portico entry - Chic hallway with corbelled archway - 2 double beds, built-ins, fireplaces - Bay fronted main, high ornate ceilings - Large upper level study with day bed - Contemporary open plan living space - Custom-designed Carrara marble kitchen - Miele appliances, induction cooktop - Zip hot water system, C Bus technology - Private European limestone courtyard - Lush garden with mature snow pear tree - Outdoor lighting, magical by night - Beautiful bathroom with handmade Italian tiles, antique vanity - Solid European Oak floors throughout - Artemide lighting, reverse cycle air - Internal laundry, integrated fridge - Fully wired for sound and data - Private and secure cul-de-sac setting - Quiet enclave, 200m to Centennial Park - Stroll to cafes, boutiques and galleries - Pets Considered upon application.
