Is this your perfect family home?

Does your checklist for your next family home look like this?

- ☑ 6 bedrooms (or 5 bedrooms + study), main with WIR
- ☑ 2 bathrooms including an ensuite to the main bedroom
- ☑ Open plan, light-filled kitchen/living / dining
- ☑ 2nd living room with open fire place
- ☑ Large north-facing rear garden
- ☑ Heated swimming pool and spa
- ☑ Parking for up to 4 cars

Ideally, you would want to be located on a wide street in one of Adelaide's most sought-after areas that is surrounded by a range of public and private schools catering for all ages so the children could walk to the school, or ride their bikes.

For convenience, you would like to be close to a shopping village that has everything that you need and being close to a couple of pubs, cafes and restaurants would be great.

If this all sounds all too familiar, then I would like to introduce you to 50 Haig St in the heart of Netherby.

The 1950s built home which was extended in 1999, is deceptive from the street, walk in through the front door and the home just "opens up", drawing you along the long polished Baltic Pine passageway, past the front living room & bedrooms toward the light streaming through the full width and height windows framing the heart of the home- the open plan kitchen/living/dining area.

Step outside into the north-facing rear garden and you have the perfect family backyard. A sparkling in-ground pool, lawn for a game of backyard cricket or footy, enough garden to plant the veggie patch, a few fruit trees to enjoy the summer harvest and the cubby house for the young children.

This solidly built home has plenty of character features such as high ceilings, an open fireplace in the spacious front living room and polished timber floors throughout.

This home is very well appointed as it is, but you may want to update the kitchen and bathrooms down the track to make this the absolute perfect family home for you.
