Own a slice of history!

Step into a bygone era with this stunning heritage home, originally built in 1851. Nestled on an expansive 10 titles across 5 acres, this enchanting property offers breathtaking views of Mount Tarrengower and the charm of yesteryear.

As the oldest inhabited house in central Victoria, this Georgian-style granite residence showcases exquisite craftsmanship, featuring granite internal walls, double windows, and a beautiful bullnose veranda. With 3 bedrooms, 1 bathroom, and 2 cozy living rooms, the home is designed for comfort and warmth, complete with fireplaces for heating and an air conditioner to ensure year-round enjoyment.

The property is rich in history and character, once rumored to be a Cobb & Co station stop or perhaps even a pub. You'll love the multiple shedding options, including vintage stables, a garage, and a milk shed, all enhancing the property's unique charm.

Enjoy the beauty of the outdoors with established trees, including ancient river red gums, peppercorn trees, heritage roses, and a variety of fruit trees. The picturesque sloping block features a hill that offers stunning views and potential for further development, with a lease on an additional 1.5 acres of unmade road extending until 2093.

Water is abundant here, with a dam, well, natural spring, and two water tanks to support your needs. The kitchen is equipped with a 4-burner electric stove, perfect for preparing meals to enjoy in the peaceful surroundings.

This property is more than just a home; it's a lifestyle steeped in history, waiting for the next owner to cherish and enhance its legacy. Whether you're looking for a serene retreat or a place to cultivate your dreams, this heritage gem in Lockwood South is a rare find.
