With its beautiful façade and impressive stone entry, Ironbark truly belongs on a picture postcard. From the moment you pull up outside you cannot help but fall in love with this fairytale home nestled amongst the snow gums. Inside the magic continues to captivate with the huge ornate stone hearth, being the main feature, of the large yet cosy open plan living/kitchen/dining. The perfect entertaining area complete with a huge deck, big enough to accommodate all the neighbours, and easy access to the cross-country ski trails and reserve. A safe outdoor space for the kids to play in the snow while you relax on the deck or inside by the fire. With a huge undercover wood store, including a wood hatch to load the internal wood shelf and hydronic heating throughout, the whole house is kept warm and inviting even on the coldest nights. Off the living area is the master bedroom with ensuite and the large entry/shedding room with stacks of storage, drying cupboard, European laundry, and internal access to the garage. A large owner storage area under the stairs provides ample room to store your supplies and ski gear, so you can stock up in advance for the winter. Upstairs, the large sunny landing with its north facing window seat provides the perfect spot to escape into your favourite novel. Off the landing are the second bedroom, with 2 bunks, and third with queen bed, both with BIR. Also on this level is the family bathroom with shower over bath and separate WC. On the third level the Loft, currently used as an art studio, would be a perfect kids retreat or fourth bedroom to accommodate extra guests.
