High on the hills of Mount Shadforth there are a lucky few that enjoy the outlook that many can only dream of - this unique slice of real estate offers that dream. The 10 acre special-rural zoned property has a small amount of pasture underneath towering Karri trees at the front of the block, with an unassuming gate then leading onto several walking trails that wind their way through the pristine forest that makes up the majority of the property. Tucked away towards the rear of the block, an outstanding granite outcrop awaits which takes in views of Wilson Inlet and the ocean to the South-East. The block backs onto over 100 acres of reserve, which the granite outcrop and potential building site looks over. This truly is a little slice of Denmark at it's finest.
