Situated in the former tin-mining town of Rossarden, this 2327 sqm allotment is an ideal opportunity to capture a peaceful retreat and embrace the views of scenic Rossarden Valley. Set at the eastern end of the township, this property has vast coverage of native bushland, ready for someone to create their weekend getaway in the hills. Zoned 'Rural resource', this property is in the heart of Rossarden and is open to many opportunities for exploring the beautiful Tasmanian flora and fauna. Rossarden is only a 20-minutes from Avoca via Storys Creek Road and provides a quiet and peaceful lifestyle. Wild deer roam the streets, and many native animals and birds. You may even see wedge-tailed eagles soaring towards the Ben Lomond National Park above the township. Land Size: 0.2327ha Zoning: R26.0 Rural Resource Council: Northern Midlands Council.
