Historic Marrawah

A well known property owned by one of the founding families that settled the Redpa/Marrawah farming district. Located in Tasmania's far North West this approximately 169 acre property is within 12 kilometres of Tasmania's scenic and rugged west coast. Not to mention Tassie's premier surfing hotspots and the renowned Tarkine. The rolling red basalt land has predominately been used for grazing over the years. There is a good set of stockyards and a dam supplying reliable water coupled with consistent rainfall. Limestone outcrops are very evident on the higher ridges which astute judges will tell you, is ideal for healthy animals. This parcel of land would be an ideal fit for anyone's portfolio and would be attractive to many potential leaseholders.
